C. L. BRATZLER OF ALGONQUIN, NEAR DEATH IN WEST

Word came yesterday afternoon from Riverside, California, that Roy (C. L.) Bratzler of Algonquin is near death as a result of burns received from the back-fire of a stationary gas engine on his new Glenwood Stock Ranch at that place.

For many years Mr. Bratzler was associated with R. E. Haeger of Algonquin in the cattle business and Mr. Haeger assisted him in the stocking of his Glenwood Stock Ranch with a fine herd of Holsteins shipped from northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

Mrs. Bratzler was prepared to leave late this week for their new home in California, but is now traveling with all possible speed to her husband's bedside in the hospital at Riverside, California.

Telegrams received this morning indicate that from the severe injury, Mr. Bratzler had slight chance of recvoery.
